Ovzon wins contract with the U.K. Ministry of Defence

Ovzon has secured a strategic order with the U.K. Ministry of Defence (MoD) via its U.K. distributor Kinetic Six. This is the first order of the company's satellite communication service from a European defense organization. The initial order value is approx. USD 0.3m, over one year, starting on December 1st, 2018.

"This is an important order that validates our unique offering on the European market. In addition to its performance, we believe the track record of reliability of the Ovzon service including our certified mobile broadband terminals, operating in the harshest environments since 2014, is of great importance to our customers. We expect it to be followed by more orders in the coming years from this and other European organizations and corporations", comments Per Wahlberg, CEO of Ovzon.
